

Confluence Documentation Research : Working with attachments overview

This page last changed on Aug 26, 2005 by vidya.

An attachment is any file that is included with your page. Images, word documents, presentations and sound files are some examples of attachments.

Attachments are useful when you want to share information that exists in another file format.

Once you have attached a file, you can provide a link to it from the page. Clicking on the link will open up the attachment so long as you have the requisite software application to open the attachment.

In the case of image attachments, Confluence allows you to display attached images on the page.
